Britannica School is the go-to site for learning about any subject, for all ages and learning abilities!

Our highly reputable editorial team expertly creates content at three levels to support students at every stage of their education.

Choose a level to begin exploring the wide array of Britannica content.

Elementary Level

Built and designed with younger learners in mind, the Elementary Level uses pleasing and eye-catching colors and images to keep students engaged. Regularly updated content makes the home page the perfect place to find unique lesson hooks and discussion points!

Explore Tools

Empower students to explore independently the many resources within Britannica! Use the World Atlas to go on a virtual tour around the world, explore the animal kingdom, or engage your pre-K through 2nd grade learners with Britannica Fundamentals.

Global Awareness

We believe it is crucial for students to gain an understanding of the world in which they live. From the home page, students have access to the Compare Countries tool. Dive deep into facts, statistics, and news of countries around the world to increase global awareness.

Middle Level

The Middle Level home page is adapted to cater to middle level learners. Resources can be used to inspire curiosity, engage in discussion, or encourage independent learning. Additional features on the Middle Level home page include the Daily Buzzword, At a Glance articles, and much more!

Compare Countries

The Compare Countries feature is a great tool to develop global awareness by supporting students' understanding of other countries around the world using unbiased, factual information.

Primary Sources

Crucial to any successful research project is evidence of the use of both primary and secondary sources. Here, students have direct access to letters, speeches, and other primary source documents, giving them first hand accounts of historical events.

High Level

Content at the High Level is designed to be of relevance to students in high school. The home page allows students to engage with features such as Flash Facts and In Their Words. Students can conduct research and develop critical-thinking skills that will prepare them for college and career.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar with the Britannica School High logo, a search bar, and links for Students, Educators, Help, and Sign In. Below the navigation bar is the 'Explore' section, which features three main categories: 'ARTICLES' (represented by a list icon), 'IMAGES AND VIDEOS' (represented by a camera and image icon), and 'BIOGRAPHIES' (represented by a person icon). Below the 'Explore' section are two main content areas: 'Compare Countries' and 'World Atlas'. The 'Compare Countries' section includes a sub-header and a description: 'Compare countries and territories to learn about the people, governments, and terrain of our world.' Below this description is an image of various national flags on poles. The 'World Atlas' section includes a sub-header and a large image of a world map.

Biographies

The perfect starting point for students to begin inquiring into people from a specific era or occupation is the Biographies feature. From the influential to the infamous, this feature allows students to dive deep into the lives of some of the world's most interesting people.

Media Browse

Explore a wide range of high-quality multimedia resources to support research and to develop understanding of a topic. This content covers every corner of the curriculum, including architecture, life processes, and technology.

Search Results

Differentiation

Support or challenge students by selecting the appropriate academic level. This is a simple way to include differentiation in the classroom.

Magazines

Across all three of the reading levels, students have access to a wide range of educational journals, provided by EBSCO. This advanced form of researching allows students to prepare for college and career.

Multimedia

Students have access to a large number of high-quality videos and images to enhance their media literacy skills. These can be used as lesson hooks or discussion points to engage learners.

Web's Best Sites

Web's Best Sites allows students to broaden their research to resources outside of Britannica School. Each site is reviewed by the Britannica Editorial Team to ensure that the sites are relevant and appropriate for students at each level.

Content Page Tools

Favorite

Click on the star icon to add an article to your Favorites or to add to a specific Resource Pack that you've created. This is a great way of planning for a unit of work and gathering content together in advance.

Cite

Teach students from a young age about the importance of citations. Britannica keeps this sometimes difficult process as simple as possible for all levels and abilities.

Translate

The screenshot displays the Britannica article page for 'cell'. At the top, there are navigation tabs: 'Article', 'Images & Videos', 'Related', and 'Teacher'. Below these, a 'Reading Level' indicator shows levels 1, 2, and 3, with level 2 selected. A row of icons includes a share icon, a star icon (for Favorites), a printer icon, a checkmark icon, a globe icon (for Translate), and a speaker icon (for Read Aloud). The main content area features a diagram of three types of cells: an animal cell, a plant cell, and a bacteria cell (bacillus type). The animal cell diagram labels include: cell membrane, vacuole, ribosomes, endoplasmic reticulum, nucleus, nucleolus, Golgi complex, cytoplasm, mitochondrion, and centrosomes (centrioles). The plant cell diagram labels include: vacuole, chloroplast, plasma membrane, and cell wall. The bacteria cell diagram labels include: cell wall, plasma membrane, pilus, mesosome, capsule, flagella, and chromosome. A text box highlights the sentence: 'The smallest unit of living matter that can exist by itself is the cell. Some organisms, such as bacteria, consist of only a single cell. Others, such as plants and animals, consist of many cells.' A zoomed-in view of this text shows a 'Read Aloud' tool with a play button and a progress bar. A 'Favorite' icon (star) is also visible in the zoomed-in view. A blue arrow points from the star icon in the top toolbar to the star icon in the zoomed-in view. Another blue arrow points from the globe icon in the top toolbar to the globe icon in the zoomed-in view. A third blue arrow points from the speaker icon in the top toolbar to the speaker icon in the zoomed-in view.

Literacy Support

There are many ways to support developing readers and to encourage independent learning. Use the Read Aloud tool to hear the words while following along with the highlighted text. Support vocabulary acquisition by using the quick-click dictionary! Double-click on a word for the Merriam-Webster definition and pronunciation.

Challenge

Challenge your advanced learners by suggesting that they read the more challenging content. Additionally, encourage them to click the Related tab when viewing content in order to expand their research and make meaningful connections between content.

My Britannica

Set yourself up with a personal My Britannica account. Here, both educators and students are able to view their favorite content and organize it into Resource Packs. The notes section allows for simple communication between educators and students, making Resource Packs a great tool for digital homework!

How should teachers use Resource Packs?

Resource Packs provide the perfect area for teachers to collect and organize all relevant resources for a specific unit of work. Use the notes section for planning. Don't forget that you can upload your own documents into a Resource Pack!

How should students use Resource Packs?

Students can keep track of the content they have found as they research by organizing it into a Resource Pack. They can use the notes section to write summaries of key points and other information they collect as they research. Students can e-mail and share the pack with teachers and peers to show their progress.

Curriculum Support

Save yourself time scrolling through endless curriculum documents. Gain further support with lesson planning by accessing our curriculum mapping tool. The curriculum mapping tool clearly highlights each strand within the curriculum that the Britannica content helps to support.
